No. 91

THE CORONADO TENT GITY DAILY NEWS is published daily at Tent Gity and distributed freely for the information and amusement of the campers. It is proper to state that, though the proprietors are interested in this publication in the same manner that they are interested in everything that oertains to Deat Give the users are accounted for the Tent City, they are in no sense responsible for the opinions or expressions of its editorial writer.

Anyone wishing information regarding advertising rates, or having items for publication, should call on the editor, George O. Jenner, at his tent, 1215 Main street street

TEMPERATURE AT TENT CITY, AUGUST 29.

THE BULL FIGHT.

A "property" bull fight seems to give as much amusement as the "real thing," and it's healthy amusement, too. That is more than we can say for the exhibitions across the border. Fully 800 people witnessed Host Moore's "fight" Saturday, and every one voted it the funniest event of the season, not excepting the successful circus day.

LECTURE AT WOMAN'S CLUB.

Miss May E. Stevenson will give a lecture next Thursday afternoon on "The Inhalation of Magnetism from Water and Air." This lecture will take place at 3 o'clock and will be free to all. This lecture will be illustrated by deep breathing and will be specially interesting, as the lady has been a student of the subject for the last fifteen years.

Friday night every one of the San Diego Rowing Club's boats was out at the Tent City concert on Glorietta Bay. One of the girls' crew in uniform was there also.

THREE SPECIALS.

In the past week we could have used a paper a dozen times the size of the News in order to notice all the happenings at Tent City. Many items of interest we have been forced to omit. Three of the most prominent and best enjoyed events were the special concerts Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Immense crowds attended all, and all previous records of attendance were broken.

Thursday was Cinctnnati night. A special program was given in honor of the visiting members of the Cincinnati Coronado Tent City Club. The first piece played was a new vocal march by Charles R. Stickney, and specially composed for and dedicated to the Ohions. At its conclusion calls were made for the composer, and after he calls were made for the composer, and atter the had bowed his acknowledgments A. A. Weiss was forced to show himself to the enhusiastic crowd of Easterners present. Mr. Weiss is the gentleman who organized the first Tent City Club, and was also in charge of the special train that have to the members west. The camp which brought the members west. The camp was certainly in the hands of the Cincinnati people on Thursday. It is estimated that 300 people from that city were wearing badges, and many more demanded them, but could not be be supplied.

Friday's musical event was in the shape of a decided novelty. The much talked of "Night in attracted many hundreds to the bay Venice front, and dozens of boats were drifting idly while the occupants listened to the excellent music played from the platform erected in the bay. Another "Night in Venice" on a much more elaborate scale is promised.

The request program played on Saturday night was enjoyed by all present. It is to be hoped that we shall get a program of classical requests in the near future.

CORONADO MINSTRELS.

LAST NIGHT'S THOUSAND LAUGHS.

Before a crowded house the famous Coronado Minstrels commenced their short season of fun at the Pavilion Theatre.

J. J. Cluxton, who is "sole proprietor, director and manager" of the troup, arranged a program which compares favorably with those given by other great dark-face companies; in fact, in some respects it was better. Instead of old jokes, the products of Adam, we heard new ones from the wits of our local up-to-dates. We did not sit in agony trying to "forget it," but thoroughly enjoyed every song by the eight local balladists. The quartettes were musical treats. Billy Shaw's R-E-M-O-R-S-E was a very funny item. If a comedian, not possessing Mr. Shaw's talents, played it, it might have been called rediculous. "Fun at Coronado Hotel," a burlesque after-piece specially written by J. J. Cluxton, was well rendered and well received. Tonight and tomorrow night the program will be repeated. Don't miss it.

FISHING.

Thirteen yellowtail, 8 barracuda, 18 skipjacks and 2 Spanish mackerel, 41 fish in all, were caught by the party going out in the "May," Saturday, piloted by Captain Adolf. H. C. Rice caught the biggest fish, a yellowtail weigh-Alce caught the olggest hsn, a yellowtail weigh-ing 20¼ pounds, and therefore was refunded his fare money. In the party were W. A. Bisherd, Charles Baker, H. A. Beck, H. Johnson, James Hutt, R. F. Read, W. B. Thompson, Sherman Bainbridge, J. E. Clyne, H. C. Rice and J. McNeel McNeal.

AND RETURN IN HALF A DAY.

Why take all day to visit Tia Juana. Take the popu-lar excursion over the National City & Otay Railway

Leaving Tent City at 8:15 a. m., or foot 5th St., San Diego, at 9:10 a. m., passing through National City, Chula Vista, in sight of the ocean, bay and mountains, arriving at TIA JUANA at 10:20 a. m., where excursionists are given two hours to visit the Mexican custom house, curio stores and other places of interest, personally conducted by Edwin A. Thill, Excursion Agent. Tia Juana has several well-stocked curio stores, where beautiful onyx, quaint Mexican curios, drawnwork, blankets, serapes and fine Mexican cigars can be purchased at reasonable prices. prices.

A pleasing feature of the trip is to eat a genuine Spanish dinner, mail a souvenir postal card to your friends in the United States, and have your handker-chief stamped with the coat of arms of the republic as a memento of the trip. Returning to San Diego at 1:30 p. m.

This line offers tourists the only means of leaving San Diego at 9:10 a. m., seeing all the sights of Tia Juana, and returning at 1:30 p. m., leaving the afternoon to visit La Jolla or other places of interest, or of visiting Sweetwater Dam the same day without additional charge, returning to San Diego at 4:20 p. m. Sunday trains to Tia Juana and La Jolla only.

Fare Round Trip, Including Bus to Old Tla Juana From Tent City $1.25. From San Diego $1.00.

SAN DIEGO MISSION AND OLD TOWN.

This trip takes you through an interesting district of the city, over a portion of the 1,400-acre City Park, up the beautiful' Mission Valley to the Old Mission. This is the oldest Mission in California, established in 1769 by Father Junipero Serra, and the first of a chain of Franciscan Missions extending from San Diego to Sonoma. It is largely in ruins and fast crumbling away, but the original adobe walls and some portions of the interior can yet be seen. The olive orchard at this Mission was started from cuttings brought from Spain, and is the oldest in California. All the olive trees in the State are children of this grove. There is also at this Mission an Indian school of about eighty pupils.

On the return you pass through Old Town, by Palms, 134 years old; the Old Fort, the house where Ramona was married; the old Mission bell, the old church and cemetery.

The trip is usually taken in tally-hos made up of congenial parties from Tent City.

For the biggest scarbina caught before September 1 the Cycle & Arms Co., operating in Tent City, will give a Van Hoff $12 reel, and the Tent City management a $10 split bamboo surf rod and a Gulf tarpon line, making a total value of $25. The conditions are as follows:

1. All intending compatitors must register at the Cycle & Arms, Tent City, before eligible for entering.

2. The contest will begin August 1 and close at 8 p. m. August 31.

3. Fish must be caught with rod and reel from the shore. No deep-sea fishing allowed.

4. Fish must be caught on the surf line between the government jetty and the boundary monument.

5. Fish must be weighed at the Cycle & Arms store, where record is kept.

6. The judges reserve the right to open all fish before weighing.

We call attention to the fact that this competition is open to all, Tent City residents and San Diegans included. Intending competitors will not forget that it is necessary to register before becoming eligible.

TO ANGLERS.

DEEP-SEA FISHING—THIS MONTH'S PRIZES.

The Tent City management offers a $20 Van Hoff reel for the largest fish caught in the open sea off Goronado during the month of August. In addition to this passage money will be refunded to the person catching the biggest fish on each of the trips, provided the number of anglers be more than ten. This competition is open to all, and will be governed by the following rules:

1. Fish must be caught during one of the official trips for which Lew Wallis is agent.

2. The contest will begin on the 1st of August and close on the evening of August 31.

3. Fish must be weighed at the Cycle & Arms, where record is kept.

4. Intending contestants must register at the Cycle & Arms.

All anglers should see Lew Wallis, the boat agent, for further particulars.

TIME TABLE.

CORONADO RAILROAD.

First car leaves Tent City on week days at 6:40 a. m.; Suncays at 7:00 a. m.

Last car leaves Tent City on weak days at 11:20 p. m; Saturdays 11:40 p. m.; Sundays 11:00 p. m. Detailed time-cards may be obtained, and round trip tickets to San Diego purchased, at Tent City office.

SWIMMING AT 11 O'CLOCK.

Between 11 and 12 o'clock is the ideal time to swim at Tent City, and in order to make this the safest as well as the most enjoyable time, the management has arranged that during this hour the "life saver" shall be in the surf. During the rest of the day he merely patrols the shore. Try 11 o'clock for your daily swim.

BAGGAGE NOTICE.—Orders for baggage for the 8:35 a. m. train must be left at the Tent Gity office the evening before, and baggage must be ready at 6 o'clock a. m., at which time the wagon will call for it. Orders for the 1:45 p. m. train must be left at the Tent City office and baggage be ready at 10 a. m. Parties must come to the office and check their baggage not later than 6:30 a. m. for the 8:35 a. m. train, and 10:30 a. m. for the 1:45 p. m. train. Be sure and bring your tickets, as baggage cannot be checked without them.

Personally conducted excursions leave Tent City every day at 8 a. m. for La Jolla and the wonderful caves. The train makes a short stop at Old Town, the oldest settlement of San Diego; in fact, the oldest settlement in California, famous as one of the scenes of Helen Hunt Jackson's "Ramona."

At Coronado Tent City is one of the best equipped plunge baths on the Pacific Coast. The beach here is peculiarly well adapted to surf bathing, having a very gradual slope and being free from undertow. Despite the fact that no serious accident has ever occurred, the management have taken all possible precautions for the bathers.

Cycling is a favorite recreation on the beach, and the roads are admirable for it. Of course you brought your wheel, but if you didn't you will find plenty at the Cycle & Arms store in the Arcade Building.

"The hand contains an epitome of life's records and also the destiny that awaits each man." The Tent City palmist has awakened great interest in this ancient science. Her readings are so accurate. Little Brown Tent, No. 1406.

BOWLING.

High scores in the weekly four-ticket prize contest are:

Ladies' Ten Pins—Mrs. R. F. Garner, 180. Seven-Up—C. R. Stickney, 90.

Duck Pins—A. De War, 100; Miss Vera Hicks, 89.

Of the above Stickney's 90 at seven-up is a Tent City record, beating the Doran and Crowe tie by one point.

Mrs. Garner ties the ladies' ten pin record for the season. This lady is from San Bernardino, and is one of the finest bowlers in Southern California. Her highest score is 268, a total never reached by any of our local bowlers, lady or gentleman.

E. Heilbron made 201 at ten pins Saturday.

ON TIMES' STAFF.

Harry Ellington Brook, on the editorial staff of the Los Angeles Times, and Mrs. Brook, were noted among Saturday's arrivals at Tent City. Mr. Brook is known as one of the strongest editorial writers on the Pacific Coast, and his editorials are widely copied and commented upon, not only by Western papers and magazines, but also in leading publications of the East.—Martha Ingersoll-Robinson in San Diego Union.

TENT CITY COURT--POLICE PRO-CEEDINGS--MANY "SENT UP."

[Special to the News by I. M. A. Lyre, court reporter.]

At 4:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon Charles E. Sumner took his place at the judge's bench. The honorable magistrate was attired in his official robes-duck trousers, shirt waist and straw brimmer. The seriousness of the charges against the prisoners brought many sensation mongers to the floating court house, and Constables T. J. Fisher and Alex. Roff were kept very busy hustling the mob. After charging the jury Judge Sumner called for the first offender. There was a deep silence as A. A. Weiss was led forward. He was charged with trying to absorb all the earth's moisture. Defence: Tried to drown troubles in drink, taking it for medicine to cure injury received in wreck on Santa Fe. Fined $1. Constable Fisher collected the fine, got permission to leave the court, came back in five minutes, looking very much refreshed.

Ah Chin, described as a Chinaman, but looking more like a licked Russian, was accused of stealing. As he was not "found with the goods," Ah Chin very emphatically denied stealing the complainant's sox. Records proved his accuser to be wearing the only pair he was ever known to buy. Chinaman wore no sox at all. Lewis R. Kirby and Eugene Daney prosecuting and defending attorneys had a heated argument as to whether overworked sox should be considered as live stock. Not being in order Bailiff Thill ejected both at the order of the worthy Judge.

J. J. Cluxton, a tramp negro, came before the court to answer the serious charge of stealing watermelons from Monroe's store. Although the evidence was very conclusive, prisoner was dismissed, this unlooked ending coming through the Judge and jury fighting for the melon and Attorney Daney eventually securing it.

The next case tried was that against B. M. Warner, who was charged with " combining and conspiracy to give San Diego and Coronado the finest street railways in Southern California." It was a heartrending sight to see the noble visaged prisoner hustled to his stand by about twenty deputies. Sitting there bound and handcuffed, he reminded us of one of those old British Kings brought before the Roman tribunal. After the charge was read, prisoner with a lofty survey of the court said in loud, impassioned tones : "Yes, and if I had to do it again I would do better-if it were possible." Sensation in court. Loud hissing from delegation from a northern city. In summing up the Judge said the charge was proven and impressed the jury to attend to the carrying out of the law. Sentenced to receive $1,200 increase to his yearly salary. Prisoner faints.

Joshua Hammond, the manager of Tent City, was charged with appearing in public without a coat, discharging skyrockets within the city limits, and working all night making plans for the betterment of the resort. A nominal fine was imposed and a sum from the poor box given prisoner to buy a coat with.

Ed Cole and Ed Gottesburen were before the court for vagrancy and disturbing the peace. Held over.

At the next session of the court another batch of offenders will be tried. Some of them are H. W. Moore, defying the laws of the constitution by holding a bull fight on American soil. Edwin Thill, Clifford Radston, W. J. Wagner, and John, forcing residents of the United States to leave for Mexico.

The heavy sentences awarded is accounted for by the fact that half the jury were ladies and the other half their husbands. A case of "do as I tell you," you know.

Miss Clara McGurk, of Coronado, was in Los Angeles Sunday, a guest at the Hollenbeck.

Miss Dorotdy Fish spent the first week in camp the guest of Miss Claire Parmelee.

Levi Bemis and family have returned home to Rialto, after two weeks of tent life at Coronado.

Mrs. Kate French Taylor is again at her Coronado home, after several months in the East.

Wm. Ferguson, one of Denver's leading civil engineers, is at Tent City, accompanied by his bride.

J. F. Martin and family, of Tuston, Orange County, on their return from Coronado stopped at Del Mar Monday evening.

Miss Beatrice Marks and Miss Maude Kunzmann, who have been visiting at Tent City, have returned to Highlands.

Miss Robson, at 2525, will sell California views, paintings, sketches and studies at reasonable rates. These are on exhibition in the Reading-room.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Baldwin entertained Judge and Mrs. Ernest Riall, Miss Caven of Texas, J. W. Collins of Joliet, and W. A. Shaw at dinner last evening.

Mrs. J. F. Akerman and the Misses Victoria and Mary Altamarano, of North San Diego, are among the week's Tent City sojourners. They have many friends at the resort who are pleased to welcome them.

Mr. and Mrs. Crockett and family and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Otis and daughter Edna have joined the Chula Vista colony at Tent City for a week's stay.

Rev. C. Spalding, of Christ Episcopal Church, Coronado, conducted evening services on the Casino last Sunday. An offering was taken for the Orphans' Home in San Diego.

Did you hear about it? C. L. was roaming around in his sleep the other night, right on Main street. He discovered the fact when he stumped his toe against a big boulder in the middle of the street.—Contributed.

D. W. Curtis, of the Curtis-Newhall Com-Cuny, Los Angeles, is at the hotel this week. Mr. partis is devoted to Coronado and Tent City, and each summer finds him registered among pleasure and comfort seekers at the resort.

LA JOLLA

THE GEM OF SEASIDE RESORTS.

Frequently and comfortably reached by

San Diego, Pacific Beach & La Jolla Ry.

La Jolla Is an ideal summer and winter resort. Nowhere on the Pacific Coast is there a resort which offers so many altractions. Here you find numerous cottages, both furnished and unfur-nished, forming a charming and picturesque little seaside city, having communication with San Diego by three trains daily. You will find numerous board-ing houses, restaurants and grocery stores, all catering to the wants of the visitor.

Fishing For those who delight in such pastimes, fishing can be had which is unsur-passed. Yellowtail, barracuda, mackerel, rock cod, sea bass, and many other species of fish found in these waters can be caught by trolling from a boat or throwing a line from the rocks. Lobsters are also found in abundance, and beautiful abalone shells are found in endless quantities.

Bathing The bathing is unexcelled. At the bathing cove, sheltered from heavy seas by the projecting rocks, and with sandy bot-tom, you will always find a crowd enjoying a plunge in the surf. The entire absence of undertow makes this beach the safest place on the coast for surf bathing. Bath house with accommodations close at hand hand hand. Scenery The scenery is such that one can always find something new. and pleasing to both mind and eye. The wearing away of the cliffs under the constant action of air and water has formed many fantastic shapes and grotesque figures. Here are found the Seven Mammoth Caves carved into the precipitous bluff by nature's hand, the ever restless sea. These caves may be entered and explored at low tide to a distance of five hun-dred to six hundred feet. Other points of interest are Alligator Head, Cathedral Rock and Goid Fish Point, where you may see at all times hun-dreds of gold fish playing in the quiet waters. Glass Bottomed Boats, are in constant attend-ance, through which one may view nature's beautiful submarine gardens. A Tunnel, leading to the caves, has lately been completed, making it possible to visit them at any time.
